Missionary Moment: Reaching Unreached People Groups

(Nepal) REECE and JUSTINA DEHN* say they couldn't possibly live anywhere other than Nepal. When they first were called to go overseas, they knew they wanted to go where the Gospel had not been preached. As they looked at different job openings made possible through the Cooperative Program, the Dehns unfurled a map marking unreached people groups. Justina pointed at the area with the largest cluster of red dots, marking less than 2 percent evangelicals in the country. "How could we go anywhere else?" she asked. And the Dehns have seen the fruits of their labor with new believers and churches and the growth of leaders among Nepali Christians.
